

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SERVICE

DEFINITION

The Reggio Emilia Textbook Marketplace is a service for buying and selling used school textbooks organized and managed by the informal network #ViaCassoliUno, led by The Spots APS. Its objectives are to combat the rising cost of schooling, provide financial support to families, promote the reuse of school textbooks, and encourage volunteering.

REGULATIONS

1) Service operation. The Marketplace accepts used textbooks from middle and high schools in the Province of Reggio Emilia on a consignment basis, provided they are adopted for the following school year and meet the acceptance criteria. Books are sold to interested buyers at a price lower than the cover price. The Marketplace returns a percentage of the proceeds from the sale to the owners who originally consigned the books. Unsold books are returned to their owners. Such returns must take place no later than the last annual opening day of the service.

2) Selling and purchasing rates. The rates applied to book sales and purchases are determined annually by the Marketplace and communicated before the start of the current edition. These rates remain unchanged throughout that edition. Rates are based on the current year's cover price of the book, not on the original price at which a specific copy was first sold. The Marketplace may establish lower selling rates for specific categories of people only when justified by social value considerations.

3) Opening periods. The Marketplace operates exclusively during the summer months, between July and September each year. Dates, opening days, hours, and service phases may vary slightly from one edition to another and are communicated before the service begins.

4) Ownership of books. Books remain the property of the individuals who consign them throughout the duration of the relevant Marketplace edition. The Marketplace is required to return either the proceeds from the sale, as described above, or the unsold book(s). This must occur no later than the last annual opening day of the service. The Marketplace is also required to reimburse the owners for any books lost while under its supervision, and such reimbursement must likewise take place no later than the last annual opening day. The Marketplace must clearly communicate in advance the period and procedures for collecting proceeds, books, and/or reimbursements. Any proceeds, books, or reimbursements not collected by their owners by the last annual opening day automatically become the property of the Marketplace.
